Re: RT Abbott Construction

It is with great pleasure that I write this letter in full support of RT Abbott construction, and Roy Abbott.

We started our construction project in Brentwood in April of 2012. Roy and his staff were very attentive in making sure all aspects of our project were attended to carefully. Our project manager was deeply involved in all aspects of construction and planning, and made sure the process was as smooth as possible.

Throughout the process of construction, Roy's organization remained fully involved. They helped us with decision making throughout the process, and made sure that they guided us in the right direction. They introduced us to great suppliers, who are accustomed to building and supplying materials for high end custom homes.

The process of building a custom home can be very challenging. This is the second home that I have built. I found RT Abbott to be the best construction company I have ever worked with. The depth of knowledge and expertise is unsurpassed. RT Abbott is a full service construction company, with great contacts, and a superb panel of subcontractors, who care deeply about the job. RT Abbott is a well established construction company in Los Angeles, and their organization is respected in the industry. They are honest, hard working people, who truly look out for their clients and subcontractors. This is truly refreshing in a construction company, when you can rest assured that you are working with a crew that is supportive.

We are very happy with the outcome of our house, and are proud to live in a house that is so finely built. We are also happy to know that RT Abbott stands behind this job, and will be there to support us should the need arise at any time in the future.

Please do not hesitate to contact me at any time, should you have any questions about RT Abbott Construction Company. My cell phone number is 310-702-8629.
